ATELY ASSAULT THEM. As an Individual and as Chairman of City Vigilance League He Is Collecting Evidence

Holds Chief Devery to Blame, Indirectly at Least, for the Recent Disturbances. A dozen or more negroes called on Frank Moss yesterday in response to the following advertisement, which nad appeared in all the morning

NEGROES who were clubbed by the police and vinesses, white and colored, who witnessed police brutality, are requested to communicate with this subscriber, FIANIE MOSS. Chairman Executive Committee, City Virtunee League, 93 Nassaust.

Mr. Moss said that he had been retained by a committee of negroes and to that extent was acting simply in his capacity as a lawyer and individual, but he added that the City Vigilance League had become interested in the case and that as an officer of that organization he would also have some duties to perform He would not tell the names of the negroes on the committee.

"But," he explained, "you may rest assured that they are representative men. They realize that this is a race question and that all negroes must stand by each other, to protect themselves must stand by each other, to protect themselves from something worse next time. They have expressed surprise at this aftair and recall the riots of '63 when the police were their protectors instead of being their assailants.

"But this recent outbreak on the West Side was not a riot. I would not dignify it by calling it that. It was a crusade by a lot of angry policemen, who knew that they had backing from higher up against a particular class of citizens. The disturbance was not spontaneous Ibelieve that it was arranged for by some superior officer or officers of the Police Department who realized that the police were inflamed by Thorpe's death and anxious for an opportunity to make all negroes suffer. And when that opportunity presented itself the police knew well enough that anything they might do against the negroes would be winked at."

"Do you refer to Chief Devery when you speak." Mr.

"Do you refer to Chief Devery when you speal of a superior officer of the department?" Mr. Moss was asked. "I will not not any indicator. Moss was asked.

"I will not name any individual, but I will say that Chief Devery could have prevented the outrage. With all his faults Devery is a good man to handle a disorderly crowd and to command a large force of policemen. He was near enough to the scene of the disturbance to have saved the city this disgrace and he had it to his power to do so."

"What motive could the superior officers have had in letting the policemen loose on the negroes?"

negroes?"

"What motive." Moss exclaimed. Why, pure deviltry. Why should a police inspector go into the Putnam House and club everybody in sight. What motive was there in that case?

"Has the matter been exaggerated? Hasn't the filing of claims against the city for large amounts incited some negroes to make the most of every incident with the hope of personal gain?"

sonal gain?"
"No," replied Mr. Moss. "the case has not "No," replied Mr. Moss. "the case has not been exaggerated in the least. And the question is much breader than one of money dannages. I do not know anything about the damage claims against the city. The negroes who have come to me have filed none. They are not looking for money. They want such redress as will assure them protection in the future, and for the negroes to feel sure of such protection the offenders in the present case must all be punished. Whatever we do will not be merely for the heneft of individuals, but for all the colored people of the city.

"One of the remarkable phases of the case is that all of the victims were respectable. Not one of those who have come to me is a gambler or discrentable in any way. The gamblers and the inmutes of disorderly houses were not molected and there are lots of them among the West Side negroes. They have been standing in with the police for years and undoubtedly do vet. They knew in advance what was coming and kept out of the way.

A squad of policemen, some in uniform and ing and kept out of the literance, some in uniform and lain clothes, went into on the pretence of erroes who were armed. They one man in the house bad and unarmed. Well, we the squad. The cops got through colf with liniment cory out. Before frightened a constitute that dence, but we have not desided on just the way that that evidence shall be used to secure the punishment of the guilty. I shall certainly not take any part in any private investigation by the Police Board. Everything that is done must be open to the punish and I assume that the city administration will eventually take the same view. The whole community is incensed and demands an explanation."

President York of the Police Board received a communication vesterday from Israel Ludlow, the lawyer who notified the board last week that he would present affidavits of negroes who alleged that they had been clubbed by policemen. The board notified Mr. Ludlow that it would hear him at 2 o'clock on Aug. 30, but at that hour yesterday Mr. Ludlow did not appear. Instead he sent the letter and an affidavit signed by W. T. Elliot, who alleges that he was clubbed in the West Thirty-seventh street station. President York said of the letter: "There is no evidence in it. I'm sorry we have waited so long for this communication, considering its value. The board will so ahead now and act as it sees fit."

The trial of Policeman William E. Powers of the Mercer street station on the charge that he was cluthk and disorderly on the night of the chief disturbances was continued yesterday before CommissionerAbell, and the testimony Powers had already given in his own behalf was corroborated by three of his witnesses. These were John Bennett, a hotel keeper of 2380 Second avenue. Cornelius Kennedy of 530 East 117th street and John Eagan of 2890 Second avenue. Bennett testified that he had accompanied Powers from Harlem to Eighth avenue and Forty-seventh street. On the way they met the two other witnesses and the four got off the car together. There was no unusual crowd at the corner except the squad of policemen. Powers lagged behind the others, Bennett said watching this unusual array of policemen and the first hint Bennett had of trouble was when he heard some one yell. "Get out of this." and saw a policeman strike Powers with his "billy

Two Old Cunarders Sold.

The old Cunard steamships Pavonia and Cephalonia, which have plied many years between Boston and Liverpool, have been sold. The Pavonia has been laid up at Liverpool since June 14, when she arrived from Table Bay. It is said that her original purchasers were English parties who subsequently sold her to an Italian shipping firm for $77,000. The Cephalonia, which arrived in the Clyde for an overhauling on Aug. 15, was bought by a Russian firm.

Albert H. Wiggin, Vice-President of the National Park Bank, said vesterday, regarding the application of the Swedish Government for a loan of $10,000.000; "We have had inquiry from Europe as to the chances of placing a swedish loan in this country." In reply to questions as to details Mr. Wiggin said: "That is all I care to say at present."

WOMAN'S FIGHT WITH A BURGLAR, Though He Chloroformed and Choked Her,

She Says He Missed Her Diamonds. Thomas R. Rabone, the electrician of 584 Jane street, West Hoboken, who was arrested on Wednesday night on the charge of stealing an iron box containing valuable papers and jewelry worth about $150 from the rooms of Lorena C. Stewart of 260 West Thirty-eighth street, was held in the West Side police court yesterday for examination. The Stewart woman alleged that he chloroformed her to get the box, expecting that it contained her diamonds, which the detectives say are worth not less than $30,000. The Stewart woman says that she was brought up by the wife of Vice-President Hendricks and that she was married several years ago to a man from whom she separated later. She was awakened in the early morning of Aug. 9, she awakened in the early mothers told Magistrate Brann, by a man clutching her throat and trying to put a handker-chief soaked with chloroform over her mouth. She struggled hard to get away and begged the man to let her alone as she had a weak heart the man to let her alone as she had a weak hear and a son to take care of.

Too bad for you," she said the man replied. "I've got a wife and three children myself."

He at last got hold of the box on the table, which by mere chance did not contain her most valuable jewelry that night, but she succeeded in pulling off the handkerchief which covered part of his face and recognized him, she said, as Rabone, whom she had met through a woman named Howard who lives above her.

a woman named Howard who lives above her.

"Sammy wants that box," was the man's explanation, as he took it, the woman said.

The Magistrate asked her who "Sammy" was, and she said he was Samuel Bergman, a wealthy friend of hers. The burglar, she said, struck her senseless and then got away with the box.

Rabone pleaded not guilty and said he could establish an alibi.

TRUST CAN'T BE THE CITY'S ICE MAN. Barred by the Terms of the Invitation to Bid

It will be remembered that at the time of the Ice Trust investigation the point was made that Trust investigation the point was made that the trust, of which the Mayor and other prominent officials were stockholders, was then supplying the boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx with ice. This was held by those seeking the annulment of the trust's charter to be illegal. The circular asking for bids for the ice contract reads as follows:

"Each bid or estimate shall contain and state the name and place of residence of each of the persons making the same, the names of all persons interested with him or them therein, and if no other person be so interested it shall distinctly state that fact; also that it is made without any connection with any other person making an estimate for the same purpose and is in all respects fair and without collusion or fraud, and that no member of the Municipal Assembly, head of a department, chief of a bureau, deputy thereof, or clerk therein, or other officer of the city of New York, is directly or indirectly interested therein, or in the supplies or work to which it relates, or in any portion of the profits thereof. The bid or estimate must be verified by the oath in writing, of the party or parties making the estimate that the several matters stated therein are in all respects true. Where more than one person is interested it is requisite that the verification be made and subscribed by all the parties interested.

LOOKING FOR A MAN NAMED "AL." The Police Believe That He Can Tell Seme-

thing About Kate Scharn's Murder. The detectives who are working on the Kate Scharn murder case are now looking for a man known as "Al." who was on friendly terms with the girl and her brother. This man was in the habit of visiting the Scharns at their home, the police say, and he was seen there every Saturday afternoon. He is described as about 35 years old, fair haired, short and "It is true," said Inspector Harley yesterday, "that I am looking for 'Al.' He was young "that I am looking for 'Al.' He was young Scharn's companion. The two little girls who went to the Scharn flat with washing on the night Kate was murdered and could not get in have told me that on three Saturdays when they called with the washing they saw this man talking to young Scharn. They are bright little girls and were able to repeat some of the conversation that took place between young Scharn and this man. As a rule the girls heard them talking about horse races and poolrooms and bets. Judging from all I have learned about this man 'Al' he was a frequenter of poolrooms."

When the inspector was asked if he now believed that Kate Scharn's companion, Julia believed that Kate Scharn's companion, Julia Yesterday was the day set for his wedding and Chaplain Johnson had been bespoken to tie the knot. Mr. Johnson has been in the Sturges pavilion at Bellevue for a week after undergoing an operation and will be required to remain three or four days longer.

There being no reason for delaying Fireman Kramer's wedding other than the illness of both bridegroom and parson, and as they were together in the same institution, it was decided not to postpone the ceremony. Supt. O'Rourke gave his consent and a florist who likes firemen sent enough flowers to decorate the ward of the Sturges pavilion, where Chaplain Johnson stays. White draperies were hung, and with the flowers, the draperies and the picturesque attire of the guests the scene was a very pretty one.

BARGE OFFICE MEN IN TROUBLE. Charges Preferred by Greek Immigrants Against Meven of Them.

Eleven employees of the Barge Office were notified yesterday by the Treasury Department that they would be expected to give in writing within three days an answer to charges preferred against them, chiefly by Greeks of this city. Among the accused men are John city. Among the accused men are John Lederhilger, chief clerk; Thomas Burke, information clerk; Albert Wank, boarding officer; Daniel Vanderhoff, gateman, 74 years old, who is a veteran of the Mexican War, and J. Ross Stewart, a mulatto who was once a member of the Georgia Legislature. The men are accused of accepting tips from persons who wanted to get among the immigrants and of ill-treating and using abusive language to immigrants. They refused to discuss the charges. Immigration Commissioner Fitchie and Assistant Commissioner McSweeney said that their superiors had not consulted them in regard to the charges, but had sent the letters containing them directly to the accused men.

THURSDAY, Aug. 30. The volume of trading in stocks to-day was almost identical with that of yesterday. The market, however, showed a good deal of irregularity. During the first half of the day it was almost uniformly strong. There were further advances in all of the iron and steel stocks, under the lead of American Steel and Wire common. American Sugar Refining was also exceptionally strong because the company, according to trade reports, practically controls the supply of raw sugar immediately available for consumption. This situation has compelled a number of the independent refiners, particularly those in Philadelphia, to close down their plants. It also resulted in an advance of five cents hundred pounds in the prices of refined sugars. While the foreign arbitrage house did very little business the domestic market was influenced to an extent by cable advices of a more hopeful feeling abroad, based partly upon developments in South Africa and in the diplomatic situation as regards China. Moreover, London bankers expect to receive more gold from this side in the near future, that is, when the next installment upon the recent Exchequer loan is paid. Sept 14

Other favorable influences were the railway traffic returns that came to hand to-day, which are printed further on in this column. During the last half of the day the professional operators who bought stocks a day or two ago endeavored to secure their profits and, consequence, prices yielded rather easily. This is not surprising in view of the elimina- C&An 3: 93% 94% PG&ECof tion of a part of the short interest and the suspension of bull manipulation. The most pronounced decline was that of 1% per cent. in American Steel and Wire common. Other net losses were in the main fractiones, averaging less than half a point. A few specialties scored noteworthy net gains, in spite of tan Street Railway and Pressed Steel Car.
